Dear Parent

Namaste!

We hope this message finds you well. We are excited to introduce a new initiative that aims to further enhance our students' language skills and encourage them to excel academically. Starting from the upcoming midterm exams, we will be implementing a new policy regarding the assessment of vocabulary in exams.

We believe that a rich and diverse vocabulary is an essential tool for effective communication and academic success. To promote the development of outstanding vocabulary among our students, we will be awarding 5 bonus points to those who demonstrate exceptional use of language in their exams. These points will be awarded based on the creativity, appropriateness, and precision of the vocabulary used in their answers.

Students are expected to integrate the "words of the week" into their written expressions as part of their learning process.

We are confident that this initiative will not only encourage students to expand their vocabulary but also help them to articulate their thoughts and ideas more effectively. Moreover, it will prepare them for the challenges of higher education and the professional world where language skills play a pivotal role.

We kindly request your support in encouraging your child to actively engage with this initiative. Encourage them to read widely, explore new words, and practice using them in different contexts. We believe that with your partnership, we can create a learning environment that nurtures well-rounded individuals.

If you have any questions or would like further information about this new policy, please do not hesitate to contact us. We greatly value your involvement in your child's education and look forward to your continued support.

Thank you for entrusting us with your child's education.

Warm regards,

Deepa Vijay
